

Colin Cowpertwait

Finance Director

I am the Finance Director at Fox Williams. I am responsible for ensuring that the firm's finance function meets the growing requirements of the firm.

Colin is a chartered accountant (ICAEW) with over 25 years' experience working in professional practices.

His role is to provide the financial management necessary to ensure that the finance function meets the demands of the business. This ranges from overseeing day-to-day transactional performance and reporting, to implementing longer-term financial infrastructure improvement projects.

Colin works closely with the heads of the legal and support departments to provide financial insight and advice, as well as supporting the chief operating officer.

Outside of work, Colin enjoys reading, watching sport, playing chess and spending time with his young family.
