

Hollie Allen

Trainee Solicitor

I am a trainee solicitor in Fox Williams' employment team.

Hollie joined Fox Williams in September 2019 and has completed her training seats in Fox Williams' corporate and real estate teams.

After a period of working as an in-house paralegal at a London media communications company and later as a producer of professional training events which briefed the public sector on recent policy and legislation changes.

As a trainee solicitor, Hollie completed her first seat in the Fox Williams real estate department. Hollie was involved in a range of transactions from high value residential purchases in London to commercial lettings, with a particular focus on the retail and office sector. Hollie has also worked on the purchase of rural property and has acted for a number of Middle and Far Eastern Investors. Hollie then completed her corporate seat, and is now sitting in the employment team.
