

Kerry Kirby

Professional Support Lawyer

I am the Professional Support Lawyer within the Employment and Immigration team, responsible for managing employment law know how, creating and maintaining precedents, and bespoke training.

Kerry has considerable experience as a Professional Support Lawyer, building on her previous background as an employment associate, which saw her advising on a wide variety of employee relations issues, including executive departures, business protection and whistleblowing.

Her role in supporting the employment and immigration teams involves management of know how, ensuring that the lawyers are kept up to date on key employment developments and their practical business impact. She also maintains the team's bank of tailored employment precedents.

Kerry supports the associates and partners with their value-added training provision for clients and external collaborators. She is also a regular contributor of client-focussed articles and webinar content for HRLaw, the employment team's bespoke client publications and training service.

Kerry speaks conversational French.
