

Sacha Schoenfeld

Partner

I am head of Fox Williams' business immigration team, and have been providing immigration advice to clients for two decades. I advise clients from all sectors, from multinational corporations to entrepreneurs, small businesses, professional practices in the UK and overseas, schools and educational institutions, high net worth individuals and families.

Described in the Legal 500 as 'exceptional', 'very responsive' and 'professional, timely and accurate', Sacha has extensive experience in all aspects of UK business immigration and nationality law, and provides tailored assistance across all areas of UK immigration to both organisations and individuals.

Her work with businesses includes sponsor licence applications (Skilled Workers, Intra-company transfers, Students, Temporary Workers) as well as those seeking to come to the UK in non-sponsored routes including Investors, Global Talent, Innovator and Start-up visas, as well as discretionary applications and those seeking leave outside of the Immigration Rules. Her work with businesses involves the provision of tailored and bespoke immigration advice and solutions, including sponsor licence management, compliance training, and audit services for sponsors.

Sacha's clients include organisations in the financial services, technology and professional services sectors. For individuals, she and the team undertake a full range of applications from visa applications and extensions to indefinite leave to remain and British citizenship – her individual clients include fund managers, investment bankers, HR professionals, lawyers and high net worth individuals.

In recent months Sacha and her team have focussed on providing advice and solutions for organisations and individuals leading up to and following the UK's departure from the EU and the consequent changes to the UK's immigration system.
